DR ADRIAN BEVAN

PRACTICAL MACHINE LEARNING

PORTFOLIO SUBMISSION

PREPARING YOUR WORK FOR SUBMISSION

▸ Make a working directory that has the form (see the introduction slides):

  ▸ YOUR_NAME_PML_Week1
  ▸ YOUR_NAME_PML_Week2
  ▸ YOUR_NAME_PML_Week3

> While the OS can handle whitespaces, this becomes cumbersome on other systems.
>
> As a result please do not use whitespace characters in the names of your directories.

▸ e.g. for me this would be:

  ▸ ADRIAN_BEVAN_PML_Week1
  ▸ ADRIAN_BEVAN_PML_Week2
  ▸ ADRIAN_BEVAN_PML_Week3

PREPARING YOUR WORK FOR SUBMISSION

▸ e.g. for Week 1 you should put all of your code assignment and summary document work in the Week1 directory:

  ▸ YOUR_NAME_PML_Week1

▸ This includes python scripts and PDF files of your results where appropriate (see assignments for details of what work is expected for each week).

PREPARING YOUR WORK FOR SUBMISSION

▸ For a given week you will need to compress the directory that you want to submit.

  ▸ You are expected to upload zip files at the end of each week of the School.

  ▸ These zip files will be unpacked for assessment.

▸ N.B. Maximum file size for submission is 50Mb, you should be submitting much smaller directories than this, so you should not encounter problems as long as you retain the files for marking as instructed.

LATE SUBMISSIONS

▸ Late submissions will incur the standard QMUL late policy:

  ▸ Where an assignment is submitted late (and there are no extenuating circumstances) a mark of zero (0FL – zero, fail, late) shall be applied immediately.

▸ Extenuating circumstances (EC) need to pass the following test:

  ▸ A student unable to complete coursework by, or on, the specified date due to medical or other reasons beyond their control, shall submit a claim for extenuating circumstances supported by appropriate documentary evidence.

▸ Hopefully we will not need to consider ECs for any of you. If you fall ill, or something else happens that is beyond your control that prevents you from submitting work, please contact me as soon as practicable so that I can provide you with the information required to submit an EC claim for this course through the School of Physics and Astronomy.
